

ROOSEVELT TALKS FOR HALF AN HOUR, SHEDDING NO LIGHT

Spends Time Principally in Telling Reporters He has Nothing to Say.

Turns Down Banquet.

Takes Little Notice of Fact
That His Missouri Friends
Are Busy.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, at the Outlook office to-day, talked for nearly half an hour to reporters, but would not touch on any subject connected with politics. He spent most of the half hour in replying "I have nothing to say" to the questions asked.

"When I have a statement to make," he said, "you'll know it in advance." Col. Roosevelt was asked if he had read that Gov. Hadley of Missouri had come out for him and said he had not. He also refused to talk about the Oklahoma indifference.

Otto F. Karbe and Isaac Hodges, members of the One Million Club of St. Louis, called upon Col. Roosevelt. They came from St. Louis to see the former President about the invitation to attend a banquet to be held on Washington's birthday. According to Mr. Karbe, Col. Roosevelt said he could not attend and could not make any speeches at that time.

TAKES LITTLE NOTICE OF THE ACTIVITY IN ST. LOUIS.

When Mr. Karbe mentioned the fact to Col. Roosevelt that St. Louis had endorsed his candidacy, Roosevelt, according to Mr. Karbe, remarked: "I see they're doing things out there." Ormsby Mearns, a lawyer of No. 52 William street, said today that he had just returned from St. Louis, and that the boom there for Roosevelt is certain to last.

"There is no more need of promoting Roosevelt's boom out there," said Mr. Mearns, "than there is of pushing a street car down hill. The people want Roosevelt and won't stand for any one else." Mr. Mearns denied the accusation that he was working for Roosevelt's boom out there, said Mr. Mearns, "than there is of pushing a street car down hill. The people want Roosevelt and won't stand for any one else."

HYPNOTIC HEALER FINED.

Mrs. Parthey Claimed She Could Cure Stammering by Suggestion.

Mrs. Anna Parthey of No. 100 East Twenty-fourth street, "hypnotic suggestion healer," pleaded guilty to violation of the State Medical law today before Justice Steinert, Mayo and Salmon in Special Sessions and was given the alternative of a $50 fine or thirty days in the City Prison. She paid the fine.

Complaint was made against the hypnotic doctor by Mrs. Frances Benzley of the County Medical Society. Mrs. Benzley visited Mrs. Parthey's office, where, she says, she was told that she could be cured of stammering by hypnotic suggestion. In the course of conversation between the two women, Mrs. Benzley told Mrs. Parthey that she had recently treated a local middle-weight pugilist for nervousness so that when he went into the ring he would be able to conquer his opponent and this was all to be done through hypnotic suggestion.

Liberal Price Concessions in the Fur Section Make This Clearance Sale Extremely Interesting

Furs must not be "carried over" to next season at Simpson Crawford's.
